Postcards From

Iceland & Bhutan Adventures!

Miss me? It's been a while since we've been in contact.. October was a crazy month. Loved it, but glad to be back. First, our pioneer group trip to Iceland proved to be a success beyond expectations. With only one bad weather day (wind was so rough, card weren't allowed on the road. We enjoyed all the iconic Iceland activities..from blue lagoon and the secret lagoon to hikes in the beautiful Thorsmack valley to hikes behind waterfalls.But then we had so many extras, like the family sheep farm where we bought wool products made by the family grandmother, and horseback riding the special bred Icelandic horses and the zodiac boat ride that got us up close and personal to the glaciers. So much more. Here's a taste.. of course if your'e interested in going there, we're helping people right now plan a custom trip.

Check out a glimpse of our trip:

And then there was Bhutan..

Every time I go to Bhutan, I experience it in a different way. This time, I was focused on the people and the traditions. The people of this beautiful country handle traditions of their ancestors with such zeal and love even while they are moving toward the modern world. The festivals, the prayers, the dress, the honor of nature are part of all who live there. I hope that the next generation continues to honor the beautiful traditions that make this country stand out.

TWO ROOMS LEFT

Last year we planned that our Steamboat Ski Trip was going to be the last Steppin' Out ski trip. However, everyone on that trip asked for us to do it again! So we put together yet another epic ski week for us to get together again. Option for 4 or 5 nights as well.

Join us for a week of fun with friends in one of the biggest ski mountains in North America!

Back to Steamboat Springs, Colorado.

Steppin' Out's and Birthright's Volunteer in Israel

People have been asking me for a long time about doing a trip to Israel. We have done amazing trips there. But Israel has gotten expensive for people over the birthright age.

But now Birthright has partnered with Swords of Iron - a volunteer organization-to offer a subsidized trip to Israel for volunteers.
I asked if we could take one departure and make it private for Steppin Outers. I am looking at March 23 departure. They have a full week of activities and accommodations and flight from New York for $975. I thought I can add some activities during the volunteers free time and maybe add a few extra days to go to more places. Meanwhile, you'll get to know Israel in a more meaningful and personal way.

Participants take part in hands-on volunteer activities, which may include agricultural work, logistical support, and assisting local communities.
